

PLEA OF GUILTY IS ENTERED BY JONES

Young Man Admits Robbery at Hub Clothing Store Following His Arrest Here.

ARREST MADE AT HIS HOME

Youth Was Wearing Part of Stolen Clothing—Carried Several Pawn Shop Tickets.

Harry Jones, the young man who was wanted here by the local police in connection with the robbery at the Hub Clothing Store, West Second street, two weeks ago, was arrested at his home in this city Monday night by Marion Weddell, policeman, shortly after he stepped from a northbound interurban car. Charles H. Wallace, policeman, had gone to Camp Knox, Ky., and to Louisville after him Sunday but was unable to locate him at either place. Wallace, however, was "hot" on the trail of the young man and reached several places just after he had departed.

When Jones stepped from an interurban car at the edge of the city, he was recognized by a resident who telephoned Claud Carter, of the Hub store. Mr. Carter telephoned to Policeman Weddell and reached Jones' home a few minutes after he arrived there. It was denied at first that Jones was home, but the officer walked through the house and found the young man, who had just unstrapped a revolver and holster from his waist. He carried two suit cases but had left these outside the house. Mr. Carter took possession of these.

Jones was taken to the police station and according to the officers, made a frank confession of his part in the robbery. In his pockets he carried receipts from four pawn shops in Indianapolis where he had sold the stolen articles. He also carried a pawn ticket on a Louisville shop, but part of the articles pawned there were his personal property.

Jones wore some of the clothing that was taken from the Hub store. The pawn shop tickets were turned over to W. L. Johnson, proprietor of the store, and he went to Indianapolis this morning with Officer Wallace to recover the goods.

Jones told the police that Warren Cross and Benjamin Bryant, aged fifteen, and himself had planned the robbery. According to his story Cross was not present when the robbery was "pulled off," but had said that he intended to be there. This is slightly contradictory to Cross' story that he did not know the goods which he had in his possession were stolen. He told the police that he gave Jones and Bryant $2 each, to defray their expenses to Indianapolis and when they could not pay the money back he took some articles they had in their possession to cover his loss.

Jones was given a preliminary hearing before C. W. Burkart, city mayor, Monday night. He pleaded guilty to burglary and was placed under $500 bond. Sheriff H. L. McCord was in the city Monday night and took Jones to the Brownstown jail when he returned home.

Mrs. Bowers died before regaining consciousness but Mr. Bowers still lives, though in a very critical condition, the ill fated couple lived at Brownsville, Oregon, but were spending the winter in Portland.

Several deaths have occurred in Mrs. Enos' family in the last year. Her husband died early last spring from an accident. Since then a brother has died and now comes the appalling news that her sister has been killed. Mrs. Enos has a son, James Enos, with the American forces overseas.

ONLY 27 MEN OUT OF 1,250 WERE LEFT

Valford Wiethoff Writes He Was One of the Few Remaining After Fighting at Soissons.

DEFENSE WAS REMARKABLE

Nephew of C. H. Wiethoff for First Time Tells About His Experiences in Field.

That Valford Wiethoff was one of the twenty-seven men left out of a unit of 1,250 after the terrific fighting at Soissons, is revealed in a letter which has come to his uncle, C. H. Wiethoff, of this city. This is the first time that the young man has told of his experiences, although his relatives knew that he had experienced some harrowing escapes. He is the son of Harry Wiethoff, of Los Angeles, formerly of this city.

Young Wiethoff joined the regular army on the Mexican border and was with the first American troops to sail for France. He took part in the heavy fighting during the early days of the war. He wrote previously that he had been gassed but had recovered. "All the gas did was to spoil my vocal chords," he said, "and they never were any too good."

The section of the letter which tells of his escape at Soissons is as follows:

"It is raining while I write and the wind is howling around the corner of the little old 'shack,' but I am nice and dry and warm, while lots of fellows are out in the cold and rain. But of course one never knows how long a good thing will last, so naturally I am making the best of it while I can."

"You asked me about my experiences in the war. Well it is over now, so I can tell you a few things about my life in the trenches and elsewhere."

"Last winter I was in the Toul sector and many times I have waded through mud over the top of my hip boots, gone on raiding parties, laid in mud knee deep when 'star' shells were shot to keep from being seen, but all

WANTS DISCUSSION

Senator Vardaman Assails President's Attitude.

Washington, February 18.—Senator Vardaman, Mississippi, today assailed President Wilson for asking congress to refrain from debate on the league of nations. In a speech to the senate he said "if the President had thought more of the American people and their interests and less of his personal triumph, he would have urged them to discuss and analyze the league of nations so they might be fully informed."

ANTI-GERMAN BILL IS MORE DRASTIC

Measure Passed by Senate Would Eliminate Teaching of German in All Grade Schools.

COMBINES FORMER BILLS

House Expected to Pass Measure in Substantially the Form Approved by Upper Branch.

Believing that the provisions of the Alldredge-Negley and Lowe bills resigned to limit the teaching of German in grade schools which were passed last week by the Indiana house of representatives, the senate Monday passed a more drastic measure. Senator McCray, of Indianapolis, presented the bill. It provides that only the English language shall be taught in the grade schools of the state, including public, parochial and private institutions. Senator Hagerty was the only senator who opposed the passage of the bill in the senate.

The three bills which were passed by the house last Thursday did not meet with the approval of the state and petitions and telegrams have poured into the capitol since that time urging that a more drastic law be enacted at once.

The senate measure provides:

1. That all instruction in elementary grades in public, private, parochial or institutional schools in Indiana shall be conducted only in English.

2. That German shall not be taught in any of the elementary schools of the state.

3. That violation of any provision of the bill shall be punished with a fine ranging from $25 to $100, to which may be added imprisonment not to exceed six months. Every day's violation of any feature of the bill shall be considered a separate offense.

If the house passes the bill, no subject can be taught in any language except English in any grade school within the state.

The complete text of the McCray bill is as follows:

"Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, that all subjects and branches taught in the elementary schools of the state of Indiana an all elementary schools maintained in connection with benevolent or correctional institutions shall be taught in the English language only, and the trustees, and such other officers as may be in control, shall have taught in them orthography, reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, English grammar, physiology history of the United States, scientific temperance, and good behavior, and such other branches of learning as the advancement of pupils may require, and the trustee, and other officers in control direct: Provided, that the German language shall not be taught in any of the elementary schools in this state. The tuition in such schools shall be without charge."

"Sec. 2. All private and parochial

THEY RECONSIDERED

And Agreed to Allied Terms for Extension of Armistice.

By United Press. Weimar, Germany, February 18.—Intervention by German political leaders was all that prevented the armistice being broken off Sunday, it was revealed today. The cabinet had already decided it was impossible to accept the new conditions, and only change its attitude after strong representations had been made by the political spokesmen of the German people.

Spark Causes Fire.

A fire that aggregated $50 damage broke out on the roof of the John C. Groub residence, North Walnut street, this morning about 11:45 o'clock. The local fire department immediately extinguished the blaze. It had eaten a hole in the roof and destroyed a few rafters. Evidently the fire caught from a stray spark. It is thought that the fire had started some time before it was discovered, probably two or three hours for at the time of the discovery it was burning very slowly.

RECONSTRUCTION MEASURE FRAMED

Bill Before Indiana Legislature Provides for Maintenance of Free Employment Service.

AID FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS

Appropriation of $75,000 Provided to be Added to Similar Fund by Federal Government.

By United Press. Indianapolis, February 18.—The initial reconstruction measure introduced during the present session of the legislature was accorded considerable attention today by members of both the House and Senate in informal conferences in the corridors of the state house.

The Van Auken—Strode bill, which provides for the establishment and maintenance of a free employment service by the state and for the rehabilitation of Indiana's wounded soldiers, is a sequel to the Soldier's Rehabilitation bill, passed recently by congress.

Under the provisions of the Strode—Van Auken measure, free employment service will be rendered Indiana soldiers discharged from military or naval service and also for the vocational training of such wounded men, as are unable or unfit to return to their former occupations or employments. It is also provided for in the bill that vocational guidance shall be rendered the eighty per cent, of the youths of the state who fail to receive a high school training.

The appropriation of $75,000, provided for in the bill will be duplicated by the federal government which will turn over to the state the same amount in order that the work of the free employment service and rehabilitation work may be put into force.

The McCray anti-German language bill which was passed by the senate late yesterday, reached the house and it was referred to the educational committee, where prompt action was promised. An amendment to the constitution providing that all grade schools must be taught in the English language was introduced by Senate Furnise.

A bill providing for creation of a motor vehicle commission was introduced by Senator Meeker. It would remove the auto license work from the secretary of state's office.

Bills recommended for passage in the house included:

Deem—Establishing a state athletic commission and allowing boxing contests and the joint resolutions providing for amending the constitution so the clerk of the supreme court would be appointive and that state officers would serve for four years.

The senate passed the bill increasing the salaries of the supreme and appellate court to $8,000 and $7,500 a year respectively.

It also passed a bill providing that threshers shall file a report monthly with the commissioner of weight and measures.

The funeral services will be conducted at the home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial at Riverview.

Mrs. James Wagner Dead.

Mrs. James Wagner, aged 26 years, the wife of James Wagner, Brownstown, died at her home at 3 o'clock this morning. Her death resulted from tuberculosis. ARMISTICE CONDITIONS ARE MORE STRINGENT Marshal Foch Sends Word to Poles Not to Make Attack on German Territory.

By United Press. Paris, February 18.—The allied commissioners, designed to formulate additional armistice terms with Germany have practically completed their work it was learned today. The armistice renewal signed Sunday was essentially provisional and a definite agreement containing additional military and naval terms will be substituted as soon as the commissioners finish their task.

Germany will be protected by the allies from outside aggression. Marshal Foch sent a telegram to Warsaw last night forbidding the Poles to attack German territory. The terms which Germany accepted Sunday are understood to include destruction of all submarines, limitations of the Krupp works and disarmament of the Heliogoland and Kiel canal fortifications.

RUSSIAN POLICY STILL UNCERTAIN

No Progress Towards Definite Solution is Made By Supreme War Council.

TROOPS MAY BE WITHDRAWN

Proposal Offered by Winston Churchill Refused and British Minister Leaves Paris.

By United Press. Paris, February 15.—The associated powers today were apparently completely at sea regarding the Russian policy. Although the supreme war council has reopened the question it is understood that no progress has been made towards a definite solution.

The one thing that seemed certain was that British and American troops will be withdrawn from northern Russia as soon as practicable. While it is impossible that this may not be accomplished before the ice breaks up in the spring, it is said that steps are already being taken to facilitate evacuation. The policy apparently will be adhered to in the face of renewed efforts by the French to obtain armed intervention on a large scale.

A proposal for solution of the Russian problem by Winston Churchill is understood to have been tabled by the supreme council. Churchill has returned to England.

The peace conference is expected to mark time until President Wilson returns from the United States.

GUS NOLTING, WELL KNOWN HERE, DIES IN CINCINNATI

Son-in-Law of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bruning Succumbs After an Illness of a Few Days.

Mr. and Louis Bruning, East Second street, received a message Monday afternoon, announcing the death of their son-in-law, Gus Nolting, which occurred at 9 o'clock Monday morning at his home in Cincinnati. The message came as a shock to them as they did not know he was seriously ill. Last Thursday they received a card from their daughter stating that a son, Harold, had been ill but was improving, and that Mr. Nolting was suffering with a severe cold. As they heard nothing further relative to his condition they believed he was improving.

Mr. Nolting was born in Cincinnati forty-two years ago and lived there throughout his life. He was married, the first time to Miss Tena Groff, of this city. To them four children were born, all of whom survive the father. Several years ago he was married to Miss Margaret Bruning, who also survives him. The funeral will be held in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruning and son, John, will go to Cincinnati this afternoon to attend the funeral.

Standing Army Plans.

By United Press. Washington, February 18.—The house rules committee today took adverse action on the plan of the war department and the house military committee for an army of 500,000 men as provided in the military appropriation bill.

SENATE EXPECTED TO OPEN DEBATE

Poindexter Prepared to Start Discussion Related to the League of Nations Plan.

PRESIDENT OPPOSES DEBATE

Senator Borah Refuses Invitation from Wilson to Discuss the Proposition.

By United Press. Washington, February 18.—Senator Borah today declined President Wilson's invitation to dine at the White House and discuss the league of nations.

He based his declination on two points; first, that he and the President are fundamentally at odds regarding any league of nation plan, and secondly, that he could not allow himself to be bound by a confidential discussion, no part of which he could use later in argument or public discussion.

At the same time announcement was made that Senator Poindexter is prepared to disregard the President's wish by beginning discussion of the league before the senate. Poindexter's speech, if made, is expected to be followed by speeches of others hostile to the league. The senate is likely to be plunged into the sort of debate President Wilson sought to avoid. Administration leaders are considering measures for curbing talk.

Borah, so far, is the only member of either house or senate foreign relations committee to decline the president's invitation. Strong pressure was brought to bear on him to reconsider. His action created a great stir at the capitol.

Meetings at the white house, according to a long standing custom, wrote Borah, "are always regarded as strictly confidential on the part of the guests. This meeting, I take it, would be regarded as especially confidential, otherwise the president would have spoke according to his custom to the open senate."

"The differences between the president and myself on this question are fundamental. I am sure no suggestions of mine would modify the slightest, the views of the president and nothing could induce me to support this league as outlined in the proposed constitution or anything like it. I feel, therefore, that it would not be fair to the president to accept his confidence or receive from him confidential information concerning this subject. Neither in my view of the subject could I accept information which I would not feel perfectly free to transmit to my colleague or use in public debate."

"After much reflection, I beg, therefore, to be excused from attending the meeting."

"In writing this note and taking this course I mean no personal disrespect to or disregard for the president. I simply find myself in such disagreement with him and feel so intensely concerning the matter that I cannot do otherwise than candidly advise him of the fact."

Senator Poindexter said he plans in his speech to attack Articles eight, twelve, eighteen and nineteen of the proposed league constitution.

RUSSIAN SITUATION.

According to Paris dispatches, the Russian problem is one of the foremost questions before the supreme war council. The reason, of course, why the situation there is so hard to deal with is that there is no stable government. The country is in the hands of the Bolsheviks and Bolshevism is little different from anarchy. The system destroys confidence and without confidence in business and in the future of the country there can be no advancement. Progress and contentment come only with the recognition of organization.

With the Bolsheviks leaders it is rule or ruin. They tried to destroy the unity of the allied peace conference but failed. They are now attempting to accomplish their ends through Russia. Such a program can only mean the destruction of Russia. The allies are not concerned what form of government

Russia may have so long as the people are given opportunity for advancement and the government that may be decided upon does not interfere with the progress of other peoples.

The world is undergoing a social and economic change. These changes are designed for the betterment of humanity, but radicalism will only destroy the progress already achieved. Great institutions cannot be suddenly overthrown without far reaching effect. We must look into the future and see what the results of any step will be before it is taken. That is the mistake that Russia made, and she is reaping the reward of her quick and thoughtless action.

Some months ago the editor of the South Bend News-Times was roughly handled by the local court because of criticism in his paper of the settlement of a matter that had been disposed of by the court. A heavy fine was imposed upon the editor by the judge who regarded the criticism as contempt of court. Editor Zaver appealed to the supreme court and now has the satisfaction of a complete vindication. That court holds that there is no contempt in criticizing a matter that is finally disposed of. It is only in matters still pending and awaiting final disposition that criticism may amount to contempt. That South Bend editor now doubtless feels like the barrister who, when charged by an all too sensitive judge with showing contempt for the court, emphatically denied the allegation, saying that he was not trying to show his contempt but to conceal it. There is a definite measure of honor and respect due the courts, the measure which is fairly earned by a sincere and wise administration of justice. In this connection the Ft. Wayne News well says: "The bench is an exalted position but it is not a sacred one nor does a divinity hedge those occupying it. Captious criticisms of judges is to be avoided, and the petty nagging of them for partisan ends is disreputable and contemptible, but at that a court is to be honored only in the degree that it inspires honor."—Kokomo Tribune.

Daily Health Talks

A WORD ABOUT THE KIDNEYS

BY DOCTOR WATSON.

People are easily frightened when they think something is the matter with their lungs or heart, and well they may be; but few people understand the dangers of diseased kidneys. These organs have a duty of vital importance to perform, and if they are diseased, there is no telling how or where the symptoms may appear. The kidneys are filters, and when they are healthy they remove the poisons from the blood and purify it. When the kidneys are diseased, the poisons are spread everywhere, and one of these poisons is uric acid. The uric acid is carried all through the system and deposited in various places, in the form of urate salts—in the feet, ankles, wrists and back—often forming bags under the eyes. Sometimes the resulting trouble is called rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and backache. Finally, come stone in the bladder, diabetes and Bright's disease.

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., in recent years, discovered that a certain combination of remedies would dissolve uric acid (urate salts) in the system. He found this combination to be harmless, so that he made it up in tablets, of double strength, and called them Anuric Tablets. They dissolve uric acid in the human system as hot coffee dissolves sugar. If you have uric acid troubles, don't delay in taking Anuric Tablets, which can be secured in the drug stores. You can write Dr. Pierce, too, and he will tell you what to eat and how to live so that more uric acid will not form in your system. Dr. Pierce will not charge for this advice.

discussion of the league of nations plan, but he wants to do all the discussing.

Despite all the talk made by the German radicals, the armistice was extended in accordance with the wish of the allies.

THE RIVER

by Ednah Aiken

The River in the desert ran, and mocked and wrecked the work of man, who tried to curb its flow, and make its waters irrigate that portion of a Western state where nothing green would grow. In vain despairing engineers assaulted it with dams and piers, and wrestled with its flood; it laughed their puny strength to scorn, and left their bulwarks rent and torn, and changed their names to Mudd. Then Rickard came, intense, alert, in nobby tie and scrambled shirt, and other brave array, and weary toilers, as they viewed his outfit, said, "He is a dude, and will not last a day."

But Rickard fought while others wailed, and Rickard won where others failed, made good a splendid dream; by burning day and torrid night, superb and strong he made his fight, subdued the roaring stream.

It is a tale that stirs the blood, this epic of a desert flood that ruined as it raced; of modern generals who plan not to destroy their fellowman, but to restore the waste. And in its pages we descry strange types of people marching by, all actors in the strife; the swarthy son of Mexico, the Indian, the native "bo," and all drawn true to life. And always as we read we feel, insistent, to our senses steal the desert atmosphere; the cactus and the yellow sand, the distant mountains, looming grand, the river sobbing near.

And love is present—just enough to serve as background for the rough, grim struggle with the foe; it is a book of stalwart men, that one may read, and read, and still new pleasure know.

SEYMOUR AND COLUMBUS TO CLASH TOMORROW NIGHT

Game Promises to Be Most Interesting of the Entire Basket Ball Schedule.

A big event in the career of the Seymour high school basket ball team will take place tomorrow night when the local quintet will meet the Columbus team at the Shields high school gymnasium. The locals may be annihilated but the students don't see it that way, the team doesn't see it that way, in fact no one sees it that way outside the Columbus city limits. According to Coach Carson and his men, the people there won't see it that way after Wednesday night.

The Seymour boys are not bragging. There is only a firm, relentless spirit of determination characterized in their speech and hard preparatory training. Old players working on the floor against them are giving them points of valuable usefulness.

There is only one answer to this steady routine of practice and hard daily drill. The pound, pound, pound that Carson is working into his team will give it nucleus to pound its way through the Columbus lines. The local team needs the support of every man, woman and child Wednesday night for, it may be said, then will be the first dash at the Columbus stronghold on the district floor. Columbus has already defeated Seymour but at that declares it was very nearly a sour grape tale for her team.

On their home floor the Seymour boys expect to wallop the visitors and put a rock foundation under the statement that they are going to represent this district at Lafayette, March 13, 14 and 15. All local patrons of sportsmanship are expected to be present to aid and encourage the boys in their first drive for tournament honors.

This week will prove one of strenuous fighting for the Seymour team. After playing Columbus Wednesday night it will go to New Albany for the return game with the team there Friday night and then return to this city for a contest with the Madison squad Saturday night.

26,000 ACRES IN JACKSON COUNTY GIVEN TO WHEAT

46,200 Acres Were Planted in Corn
While 26,400 Acres Were Given to Hay Production.

That 26,000 acres in Jackson county were given over to wheat production in 1918, is the estimate of George C. Bryant, field agent of the United States department of agriculture. The estimate is contained in a report covering the crop figures for the last year.

The corn acreage was the largest of any single crop there being 46,200 acres devoted to this crop. The report shows that there were 6,300 acres of rye while 11,800 acres were given over to oats. The big hay production in the county was accomplished on an acreage estimated at 26,400.

When you can set before the folks or your friends a cake or a pie, or a loaf of bread that you're proud of—that you know looks good and tastes good—that's something worth while.

Valier's Enterprise Flour is now back. This famous product is ready to be your first aid in baking—to give you far finer baking results than you can possibly get with ordinary flour. And it is economical, because it makes so much more baking per sack.

Valier's Enterprise Flour is made to give the highest quality baking results—and it does. It's an ideal in flour making—always maintained. When it couldn't be maintained, due to war milling regulations, it wasn't made at all.

Phone your grocer for a sack of Valier's Enterprise Flour, today.

Community is Valier's popular-priced flour. It has made hosts of friends.

Hand Injured.

Edward Stewart suffered a painful injury Monday while unloading wood into the basement of the residence owned by Mrs. Belle Crane. He picked up an unusually heavy piece of wood and with a hand on each end swung it towards the coal shoot intending to give it a good start and then let loose. Instead, the wood caught his finger against the side of the shoot and mashed the end from the first joint.

REAL MONEY IS NEEDED TO BUY "BOOTLEG" WHISKEY

Standard Price is $5 a Quart and Most of the Product is a "50-50" Water Mixture.

There was a time when it was the boast of some men here that they could procure whiskey "for almost any kind of a song." But that time is past for according to admissions made reluctantly in police court by parties who have been charged with violating the prohibition law, it takes real money and a lot of it to buy whiskey in this city. While the police are active in an effort to stop the illicit sale of intoxicants, it is known that some booze filters into the community and those who know anything about the law enforcement business realize that it is a hard proposition to make any city absolutely liquor proof. However, the authorities feel that less liquor is being sold here now than six months ago and hope to continue their activities until the handling of it by bootleggers is completely stopped.

The authorities have been informed that while the regular price of bootleg whiskey is $20 a gallon, the retailers make considerably more than that. In some instances that have come to light the booze, none too good to begin with, is mixed fifty-fifty with colored water and then rebottled before it is offered to the thirsty ones. In this way one gallon grows into two. Incidentally by this plan the dealers get $40 a gallon, which would indicate that they are making a "long" profit. But they figure that a big profit is necessary to cover the possibilities of a fine of $80 in police court, if they are found dealing in the contraband.

In a few cases the mixture contained in the bottles has been "doped." It is said that a pint of this stuff will cause the drinker to sign the pledge or get chummy with the undertaker.

Mrs. George Bowers, Columbus, daughter of Mrs. Martha Westchester, Glenlawn, was brought here and taken to the home of her mother this morning by F. J. Voss. Mrs. Bowers' permanent residence is at Columbus but due to the fact that her health has been failing for some time she was brought to the home of her mother in this city.

FARMERS HOMINY MILL

SEYMOUR, INDIANA.

Rearing and plunging with all the vivacity of thorough breds, two big black horses belonging to a farmer residing near here ran up Indianapolis avenue at noon today dragging behind them a wagon that bounced along in the trail of their speed as if the wheels were coiled springs. The occasion for the runaway was the arrival of the noon west bound B. & O. passenger train. The driver and owner of the team had just driven up in front of Hamer's coal office and had gone inside when the team frightened at the train, rushing down the Pennsylvania tracks. The wagon bounced high on the rails but it was only a short time until the horses took to the street and disappeared around the bend in the road near the C. T. H. & S. E. crossing. Near the factory of the Rider Packing company the horses ran on the rails again and upset the wagon tearing up the bed and breaking one wheel. The team was uninjured and after prancing around a bit waited to be taken home. The name of the owner of the team and wagon cannot be ascertained.

William and Mary Style

When Mary became Queen of England in 1689, her Dutch husband became King. Then Dutch influences became strongly felt, and finally they prevailed. The Dutch workmen copied Dutch styles, and made changes in old former pieces which finally produced a style and type of furniture which was called after the King and Queen—William and Mary.

This style was really a marker of the beginning of the Queen Anne period, but it has distinct features of its own which succeed in placing it in the separate classification which it takes.

Turned legs, and under-framing mark this style, while the "inverted bell or bowl" identifies it for a great many people. Arched tops on cabinets and mirrors were prevalent in the days of William and Mary, and the modern style carries such tops frequently.

"TODAY, I'M WELL"

Says Jackson Lady, And Thanks Cardui For Her Good Health.

Jackson, Ohio—Mrs. Alice Scirlock, of this place, writes: "About three or four years I was in a very weak state. I suffered with my sides. They were sore and it seemed when I would lay down at nights something seemed like it twisted and pulled in my sides.

I could not rest nights, I was so very nervous. At... time I was worse than others, the pain was much more severe. I had sick headaches. My limbs would get numb and this was disagreeable... I doctored myself and tried different doctors... I was very frightened of operations and felt I could not go through one, I had gotten down so nervous. I read of Cardui and decided to use it. I took 11 or 12 bottles. Today I'm well and do not have any nervous trouble. I am able to do my own work and feel so strong and well. My sides are all right, and I know Cardui did it. I certainly am stronger than in a long time."

If you suffer from any of the troubles so common to women, try Cardui. Thousands of women give Cardui credit for their good health. NCB-10 that was play compared to Soissons. There we marched for seven days, forty-eight kilometers a day with full pack weighing about seventy-five pounds and when sent into action we were told to hold the line at all costs.

"The French and British retreated through our lines, and the Hun came on in massed formation. They hit us about 4:30 a. m. We opened fire when they were four hundred yards away. The artillery was firing point blank. There were no trenches and wave after wave of the Huns was demolished and still we held the lines. We held them for three days and nights. The Hun made assault after assault on our lines and twice there was hand to hand fighting. They gassed us, barged us, and put over a terrific machine gun fire. The airplanes bombarded us and still we held on.

"There was no food, no sleep, no water and no reinforcements. Nothing! And at the end of three days and three nights when we were relieved, out of my battalion which entered the fight 1,250 strong, only twenty-seven were left, and I was one of the twenty-seven. There was enough of the regiment left to make half a company.

"That was when the First and Second divisions stopped the Germans at the Marne and won the war.

"Then there was the fight at Chateau Thierry when I was gassed and a piece of shell entered my left hand. But I am all right now. All the gas did was to spoil my vocal chords and they never were any too good. I should worry! I am lucky to be alive today and you can well say 'thank God,' because it was He and He alone that saved me from pushing up the daisies in the fields of France."

Young Wiethoff is now with Company M, Eighteenth Infantry, First Division.

Steam Pressing Preserves the Fabric of Woolens

Our method of pressing clothes by steam is such that the fabric of the woolens is preserved, the colors are brightened and the cloth is given a firmness that is found in new materials. It has been proved that proper pressing and cleaning by the right methods adds to the wearing qualities of the cloth. Money that is spent for pressing is well spent. It is economy and at the same time it adds to the appearance of the suit or dress. It is because our methods are so satisfactory that our business is growing by such leaps and bounds. Satisfaction is guaranteed.

LUTHERAN BOWLING TEAMS

Married and Single Men Ready to "Go At It" Again.

The Lutheran bowling teams are now ready to "get at" each other again on a new schedule. The single men who were so unrelentlessly trampled underfoot by the team of married men a few nights ago have given notice that they are not ready to yell "nuh" but are ready to fight back now any time. Monday evening the two teams, "Long Boys" and "Horse Shoes" tackled each other. The "Long Boys" won two sets out of three. The names and captains of the teams figuring on the schedule are: "Horse Shoes" Otto Schmidt "Long Boys" George Lambrink "All Strikes" Otto Ahlbrand "E-Z Marks" Clarence Steinwedel "Maple Smashers" John Holtman "Good Shots" Henry Bohnenkamp

Soldiers' LettersHolds His Faith.

Mrs. James Green, 709 W. Oak street, has received the following letter from Earl Baldwin, which is devoted to his religious life:

Kind Friend:

Your nephew, Gillard, has been telling me about you and the Nazarene people in Seymour for some time. We sat together in the services Sunday evening and he spoke about you in particular and asked me to write to you. He has confidence in you and all of the Nazarene people there and often says that if ever anybody had salvation, it is you people. What great confidence the sinner places in us and how carefully they watch every step of our lives and how it behooves us as the followers of the holy Nazarene to keep in the straight and narrow road, making Him our example in truth and righteousness. Although I am an utter stranger to you and the Christian people there I am not a stranger to Jesus and His salvation. I am glad He is not only my Friend but He is my Saviour, Sanctifier and Keeper, a very present help in the time of trouble.

There are many temptations in army life and I doubt whether I would be standing true today if I had not become established in the way before I came into the army. Sins, wickedness and the powers of darkness are all around us and if we are not careful, we will find ourselves letting down the standard and compromising. There is only one way of keeping true and that is the old-fashioned route of prayer, reading the word of God, faith and personal work. It is true that we live in a circle and if each of us makes our lives count for God in that circle, whether it be small or great, we will be helping to bring God's Kingdom to earth when Christ shall rule and reign from shore to shore; when wars and tumults; the poor and the hungry; sins with all of its blighting and blasting effects shall cease and we, the people of God, shall live in perfect happiness forever. As far as I know, I and a Mr. Miller are the only ones professing full salvation in our outfit. Sometimes the road does seem hard and sin rampant on every side; sometimes the darkness almost hides His face, but my mind is made up and I have set my face like a flint towards Heaven and immortal glory and when everything seems to be going to pieces, then Jesus comes to my aid and bears me safely through. He is always in time and helps us just in time, just as we are at our wits end sometimes and Oh, what a blessedness and song of praise. I am glad for what He has been to me and what He will be to each one of us if we are faithful. Bless His Name Forever!

I am wondering how the Gospel is received there and how the privileges are for preaching. God has called me into His work and I expect to be true to that call where I will take up the ministry I do not know but I expect to follow the Leadings of the Spirit.

May God richly bless you and make your life fruitful for His Glory, I am,

Yours in His service,
Earl Baldwin.

Driving a Team.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pruitt, 605 West Brown street, have received the following letter from their son, George Pruitt, who is in France:

Dear Folks: I will now take the pleasure to drop you all a few lines to let you know how I am getting along. This leaves me well and I hope it finds you all the same. Well, I haven't received that box you sent. I am no longer an orderly, but am driving a team for Hdqs. Tr. Ninth Corps, St. Mihiel France. I wrote Aunt Lillian a letter and I wrote one to Clara. I don't know whether they got them or not. I have nine months' pay coming, 1400 francs or

1,500,000 FRENCH KILLED

An Atlantic Port.—France in four years of conflict to preserve her own liberty and that of the world, according to Andre Tardie, French high commissioner to the United States, has lost 1,500,000 men killed and as many wounded. America owes France an enormous debt of gratitude for this heroic outpouring of her life's blood and also for the reported saving of thousands of lives in this country and throughout the world through the discovery by French peasants of a perfect remedy for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, which, it is said, has received incalculable suffering and prevented thousands of surgical operations. Geo. H. Mayr, prominent Chicago chemist, imports the ingredients and sells this remedy in America under the name of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by Drug-gists Everywhere.

SAYS THIS CURED HIS LUNG TROUBLE

Mr. Morgan passes insurance examinations now, and feels perfectly well.

"In 1908, my lungs became so badly affected I had to give up my work. I coughed all the time and finally had hemorrhages twice a day. My lungs and shoulders ached so I could hardly live. Two physicians told me I had consumption, said they could do no good, and advised me to change climate. "Finally a friend gave me a bottle of Milks Emulsion. It did me so much good that I continued taking it, and in 4 months it cured me sound as a dollar.

"My lungs are now as strong as ever. I weigh 147 pounds, which is more than I ever weighed before. I work all the time, can expand my chest six inches, and am able to pass lodge and insurance examinations without any trouble."

Otto Morgan, 420 Pearl St., Terre Haute, Ind.

It is not claimed that all advanced cases of this kind are curable, nor that any such case is curable. But Milks Emulsion costs nothing to try in any case, and it has restored hundreds of hopeless victims to health.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and cathartics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of asthma, chronic bronchitis and tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by C. E. Loertz

CHAPTER XXI.

Three Travelers Come Home.

Esteban Varona made slow progress toward recovery. In the weeks following O'Reilly's departure from Cubitus his gain was steady, but beyond a certain point he seemed unable to go. Then he began to lose strength. Esteban awoke to the fact that he was losing ground, and his dismay was keen, for a wonderful thing had come into his life and he spent much of his time in delicious contemplative day dreams concerning it, waiting for the hour when he would dare translate those dreams into realities. It seemed to him that he had always loved Norine; certainly she had enshrined herself in his heart long before his mind had regained its clarity, for he had come out of his delicious wanderings with his love full grown.

The time came finally when he could no longer permit the girl to deceive herself or him with her brave assumption of cheerfulness. Norine had just told him that he was doing famously, but he smiled and shook his weary head.

"Let's be honest," he said. "You know and I know that I can't get well."

"You mustn't be discouraged," she told him, earnestly. "Remember this is a trying climate and we have nothing to do with. Even the food is wretched. I'm going to take you away."

Esteban stroked her hand softly. "You can't do that, Miss Evans. You have been wonderful to me and I can't begin to express my gratitude—" Norine stirred, but he retained his grasp of her fingers, gaining courage from the contact to proceed. "I have been trying for a long time to tell you something. Will you listen?"

"Not now," she exclaimed, with a visible lessening of color. "Don't bother to tell me now."

"I've waited too long; I must speak. You have stayed on here just to nurse me. Isn't that true?"

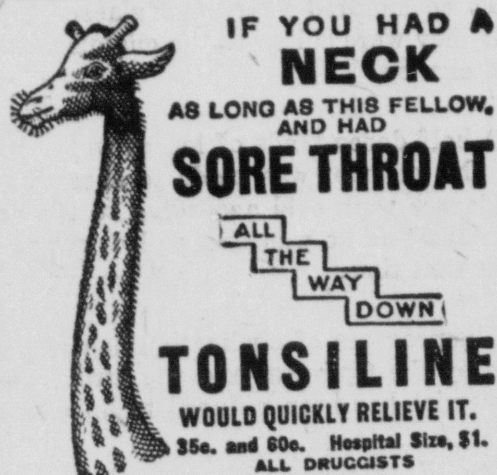

She nodded somewhat doubtfully. "Now, then, you must stop thinking about me and—make your arrangements to go home."

There was a moment of silence. "Yes. You see, I know how tired you are of this misery, this poverty, this hopeless struggle. You're not a Cuban and our cause isn't yours. Expeditions come from the United States every now and then and the government will see that you are put safely aboard the first ship that returns. I'll manage to get well somehow."

Norine's color had returned. She stood over the hammock, looking down listlessly. "Don't you need me, want me any more?" she inquired. Esteban turned his tired eyes away, fearing to betray in them his utter wretchedness. "You have done all there is to do. I want you to go back into your own world and forget—"

A sudden impulse seized the girl. She stopped and gathered the sick man into her young, strong arms. "Don't be silly," she cried. "My world is your world, Esteban dear. I'll never, never leave you."

"Miss Evans! Norine!" Varona tried feebly to free himself. "You mustn't—"

Norine drew him closer. "You're going to tell me that you have nothing, can offer me nothing. You're going to do the generous, noble thing. Well! I hate generous people, I'm selfish, utterly selfish and spoiled, and I don't propose to be robbed of anything I want, least of all my happiness. You do love me, don't you?"

Esteban's cry was eloquent; he clasped his arms about her and she held him fiercely to her breast.

"We're quite mad, quite insane," he told her after a while. "This only makes it harder to give you up."

"You're not going to give me up and you're not going to die. I sha'n't let you. Think what you have to live for."

"I—did wrong to surrender."

"It was I who surrendered. Come! Must I say it all? Aren't you going to ask me—"

"What?"

"Why, to marry you, of course. We're going to be married, and I'm going to take you out of this miserable place."

"What happiness!" he murmured. "If I were well— But I won't let you marry a dying man."

Norine rose, her face aglow with new strength, new determination. "I brought you back when you were all but gone. I saved you after the others had given you up, and now you are mine to do with as I please. You belong to me and I sha'n't consult you."

She turned, for a figure had darkened the door; it was one of her English-speaking convalescents who was acting as a sort of orderly.

"Senorita," the man said, with a flash of white teeth, "we have another sick man, and you'd never guess who. It is that American, El Demonio—"

"Is he sick or wounded?" Esteban inquired.

"Shot by a Spanish bullet. He asked at once for our senorita."

"Of course. I'll come in an instant." When the messenger had gone Norine bent and pressed her lips to Esteban's. "Remember, you're mine to do with as I please," she said; then she fled down the grassy street.

Branch was waiting at Norine's quarters, a solled figure of dejection. His left arm lay in a sling across his breast. He looked up at her approach, but she scarcely recognized him, so greatly changed was he. "Hello, Norine!" he cried. "Well, they got me."

Norine paused in astonishment. "Why, Leslie! I was so frightened! But—you can't be badly hurt."

"Bad enough so that Lopez sent me in. A fellow gets flyblown if he stays in the field, so I beat it."

"Has your arm been dressed?"

"No. I wouldn't let these rough-and-tumble doctors touch it. They'd amputate at the shoulder for a hangnail. I don't trust 'em."

"Then I'll look at it."

"It doesn't hurt, really," he declared. "It's only a scratch."

"Then behave yourself." Norine forced the patient into a chair and withdrew his arm from the sling.

Then, despite his weak resistance, she deftly removed the bandage. From his expression she felt sure that she must be hurting him, but when the injury was exposed she looked up in wonderment.

"Leslie!" she exclaimed. "What in the world—"

To date no one has been employed to manage the telephone exchange at Peters Switch. Since the last operator left there several days ago the board has been without control. Fred Steinker who owns the board has been trying and still is trying to find someone to take charge. Recently the lines at Peters Switch have been connected with the Seymour exchange in such a manner that an operator is not absolutely necessary to the welfare of the community there.

Dr. Chas. E. Gillespie.

300 Years Ago

Glasses Sold for £15 5s 6d ($75.00)

Three hundred years ago glasses sold for $75.00 per pair. Whether or not they were suited to the customer's eyes or his features, was a matter of chance.

A half dozen kinds of lenses were made, ground for simple cases only. No attempt was made to ascertain the real trouble with the eyes. The glasses were sold according to the age of the patient. The "spectacle peddler" as he was first called, meant well and gave his patients the best at that time.

The progress of civilization has changed this. Now the grinding of lenses by the Optician, and the fitting and prescribing of lenses by the Optometrist has been reduced to an exact science.

Geo. F. Kamman will not, and can not advertise prices. The fitting of glasses is an individual proposition, and the correction of defects of the eyesight is too important, and too vital to be handled carelessly or treated as mere merchandise.

We handle over hundred patients each month, which proves that we enjoy the confidence of the public. after a most casual and careless examination of their eyes.

There are people who are ruining not only their eyes but their nervous organisms by wearing cheap glasses purchased at "bargain" prices. There are even people who are wearing glasses bought without any examination of their eyes. Geo. F. Kamman, under no circumstances, will sell glasses unless satisfied that the particular lens is the one which is needed for the correction of the eyesight.

My prices are very moderate, but I can not advertise cure-all bargain sales, because my service is of the best, and first-class service can not be had at bargain prices.

We make this frank statement not only for the good of our own business but for the good of every member of the optical profession and trade who has the welfare of his customers at heart.
